V.O.I.D. Barbra JuDon 2020-09-16 The spirit of the Living God spoke to me one day and said, V.O.I.D. I remember writing it down on a post-it and putting it on my desk. Not understanding why He would give me this word the way I was instructed to write it. Beverly had so many missing pieces to her life. Like those small puzzle pieces that are the hardest to find where they fit because the puzzle is scrambled. Until it is so challenging to get the pieces to fit correctly. Beverly became sad when she was not able to recall birthdays or holidays celebrations like most kids. Who hand had she held on the first day of school? Who cared for her when her stomach hurt? Or when she felt scared of the dark? It was almost as if someone erased those memories from her mind, and she struggled to make sense of those days, even in her adulthood. The VOIDS in Beverly's life were about to turn into Victories. The VOIDS that she kept trying to fill would never be filled by her own doing. No relationship except one with the creator could fill her VOIDS. No man, child, money, job, drugs, alcohol, or sexual encounters would ever fill what God left empty for His purpose. The Principles Behind Flotation Alexandra Teague 2017-03-07 Echoing novels like Karen Russell's Swamplandia! and Carol Rifka Brunt's Tell the Wolves I'm Home, Alexandra Teague's lighthearted coming-of-age debut is perfect for anyone who's navigated the strange seas of adolescence--and lived to tell the tale. A.Z. McKinney is on the shores of greatness. Now all she needs is a boat. When the Sea of Santiago appeared overnight in a cow pasture in Arkansas, it seemed, to some, a religious miracle. But to high school sophomore A.Z. McKinney, it's marked her chance to make history--as its first oceanographer. All she needs is to get out on the water. Her plan is easier said than done, considering the Sea's eccentric owner is only interested in its use as a tourist destination for beachgoers and devout pilgrims. Still, A.Z. is determined to uncover the secrets of the Sea--even if it means smuggling saline samples in her bathing suit. Yet when a cute, conceptual artist named Kristoff moves to town, A.Z. realizes she may have found a first mate. Together, they make a plan to build a boat and study the Sea in secret. But from fighting with her best friend to searching for a tourist-terrorizing alligator (that may or may not be a crocodile), distractions are everywhere. Soon, A.Z.'s dreams are in danger of being dashed upon the shore of Mud Beach. With her self-determined oceanic destiny on the line, A.Z. finds herself at odds with everything she thought she knew about life, love, and the Sea. To get what she wants, she'll have to decide whether to sink or float . . . But which one comes first?

Dry Death in Arizona Elizabeth Bruening Lewis 2012-04-12 What do the sinking of Mussolini's plane in Lake Roosevelt, Arizona (the dictator unfortunately not being aboard), the placement of a house of ill repute in Globe, Arizona, and the events of December 24th, 1944, (in what is now Papago Park, partially in Phoenix), have in common? They are all part of the history of Arizona and the bedrock upon which Dry Death in Arizona is founded. However, the action takes place in the real world of Arizona today, which is given color and depth by the real world of Arizona's yesterday. One would think that trying to rebuild a life shattered by kidney disease and adapting to the demands of dialysis would be enough of a challenge for anyone. However, when someone attacks former Vassar professor of Anglo Saxon Studies, Abby Taylor, on her own patio, she fears that she has been targeted for an immediate death which has nothing to do with renal problems. But why would anyone want to kill her? And why would anyone murder a local nephrologist with a "killer kidney?" Or shoot an annoying acquaintance of Abby's with a classic rifle? Mysteries compound, and Abby, together with her faithful Corgi dog, Francis, and the intriguing, ever dearer David Neale, find themselves once again drawn into a maelstrom of mayhem and murder... New York Magazine 1997-10-20 New York magazine was born in 1968 after a run as an insert of the New York Herald Tribune and quickly made a place for itself as the trusted resource for readers across the country. With award-winning writing and photography covering everything from politics and food to theater and fashion, the magazine's consistent mission has been to reflect back to its audience the energy and excitement of the city itself, while celebrating New York as both a place and an idea.

Strictly Parenting Michael Carr-Gregg 2018-02-26 In his work as a family psychologist, Michael Carr-Gregg has noticed a worrying trend in our modern parenting styles, which sees kids running riot and parents running for cover. In our desire to give our kids the best, we may have given them way too much, and overlooked the importance of setting boundaries. He believes it's a recipe for disaster. In Strictly Parenting, Michael asks parents to take a good hard look at the way they are parenting - to toughen up and stop trying to be their kids' best friends. He instead offers practical evidence-based solutions on how to take back the reins and start making the most of the precious family years. With a user-friendly A-Z guide covering all the tricky issues that parents encounter over the years - everything from birthday parties and bedtimes to sex and drugs - this is an invaluable and very timely resource for parents of all school-aged kids.

Road Story David Matheny 2015-04-27 Two musicians deal with sex, drugs, fame, fortune, love, and ultimate betrayal. Billy and Ron are lounge musicians and singers traveling on the road in the summer of 1979. Everything is easy for Billy. At 20, he plays jazz better than most of the old school players. Billy's singing causes more of a stir than his playing. Billy can't help getting noticed. Things don't come so easy for Ron. Ron plays guitar and sings. Ron lives in Billy's shadow. Ron doesn't seem to mind at first, but then his jealousy consumes him. Billy and Ron work for Paul who sings in hotel lounges wearing loud polyester suits and sporting a bad comb-over. Paul wants Billy to play simple. Billy refuses to dumb down his unique style. Billy fights Paul over costumes, contracts, and hotel rooms. Billy and Paul butt heads every time they're together. Paul books the band in Phoenix where the boys score some killer Thai-stick. On their week off, Ron and Billy go home to Atlanta where they see their girlfriends and play tricks on a redneck. The next gig is in Memphis where Billy insults the memory of Elvis and starts a bar fight. Later, they meet a recording artist, Wilton, who recognizes Billy's star quality. Wilton raves about Billy's playing and singing, but he won't take a minute to listen to Ron's original song. Billy brings his girlfriend Mandy on the road after he promises her mother he will take care of her. Mandy's brother, Dan, warns Billy he will make him pay if he hurts Mandy. Ron's sixteen year old girlfriend, Penny, comes on the road against her mother's will. The boys take their girlfriends to Mobile for the next gig. Their mothers constantly nag them to send the girls home. Ron gives in to pressure from Paul and sends Penny home. Ron hooks up with a lot of homely women in a short time. Billy breaks up with Mandy. He won't tell her the real reason. He suffers from obsessions that drive his creativity and threaten his sanity. He doesn't want to put her through that. Paul hires a photographer, Linda, and she and Billy soon discover they're more than soul mates. They share the same obsessive nature. Ron realizes he could never have a woman like Linda and his jealousy starts eating at him. Paul wants to replace Billy, but he needs him so the group can audition for a gig in Las Vegas. Billy dares Paul to fire him after Paul ridicules his jazz style during a show. Billy leads the other musicians in a revolt against Paul's repressive contract. Paul gets fed up with Billy. Dan and the rest of his biker gang come looking for Billy. Paul tries to throw him off track. Paul tells Ron to warn Billy. Mandy tells Ron to warn Billy. Ron chooses not to warn Billy. Ron tells Dan where to find Billy. Dan and the biker gang circle Billy. Dan hits him in the face with a chain to mess up his pretty looks. Dan cuts his throat to mess up his pretty voice. Dan grinds Billy's hand into the asphalt with his chopper to mess up his pretty piano playing. Linda and Paul risk their lives for Billy. Twenty-five years later, Billy is rich and Ron is poor. Billy owns hotels and casinos. Ron is an unemployed heroin addict. Billy married Linda. Ron married Mandy. Mandy cooks for Billy's family to make a living. Ron gets in trouble and makes Mandy ask Billy for money. Ron watches through the window as Mandy begs for help. Ron's jealousy comes to a boiling point. Ron sees Billy still in pain from his betrayal. Ron ends his life - not out of envy, but out of regret.

The Abolition of Christianity Mark Walia 2022-05-26 Thanks to a wave of militant secularism now sweeping across America and the entire Western World, Traditional Christianity stands on the verge of destruction. Secularism has already triumphed on multiple fronts, be it abortion, euthanasia, homosexuality, or the "right" to sexual freedom, and aspires to further revolutionary changes, including elimination of marriage, the family, and gender itself. That is the provocative message set forth in Mark Walia's The Abolition of Christianity. Tailor-made for people of faith seeking to understand exactly why our culture has become so hostile towards Christian principles, this lively book will also appeal to anyone who enjoys controversial material on religion and politics.

Phoenix Erin McRae 2018-01-09 Now happily married to writer and producer Paul Marion Keane, television star J. Alex Cook's life has been a fairytale of success and romance for years. But when an unexpected tragedy throws his and Paul's social circle into chaos, the alumni of hit TV show The Fourth Estate are forced to pick up the creative pieces left behind. Confronted with his own mortality, Paul suggests he and Alex start a family. But figuring out what family means when your best friends' polyamorous marriage may be melting down and you have Hollywood's most malevolent fairy godmother to thank for your success is no easy proposition. As Alex questions whether anyone in a profession full of make believe can truly have fame, fortune, kids, and the happily ever after of their dreams, he sets out to take control of his own life and discover that the best love stories never truly end. Please be aware, this is a high-heat, high-angst romance and includes characters with a past history of self-harm. This title was previously published by Torquere Press. This is a newly updated and revised edition. Phoenix is book three in the Love in Los Angeles series.

Beautiful Scarz Xaviera Roper 2022-09-27 Are you struggling with same-sex attraction and believe you were born this way? Have you been molested? Do you need drugs to have fun, or are you hyper-sexual? Just can't seem to find the root of your pain? Beautiful Scarz was birthed as a RED print to help women, men, and the world to deal with traumas and rediscover their purpose and identity in Christ. This book will take you on a journey of overcoming the trauma of lesbianism, molestation, sexual perversion, drugs & living a life of freedom by Jesus Christ. The vulnerability and transparency displayed in this book are meant to help others avoid the detours of the enemy by applying sound wisdom found within these pages. A RED print simply means "STOP, DON'T DO IT, SIS !!" I genuinely believe there is a turning point in life when you have to re-evaluate and re-route the course you are on and make some decisions to better yourself and for generations to come. It doesn't matter how 'damaged' you may think you are or how far you have gone; there is still HOPE and REDEMPTION through Jesus Christ.

Sasha Connie Lloyd 2016-04-15 This book is written for all human beings who suffer from mental, physical, and sexual abuse, every human being with hopes, dreams, and talents to become what their hearts desire. There's no perfect person in this world, and just because you're not perfect, it doesn't mean you will not succeed. Put your best foot forward, and give it all you have. We all deserve a good life. Life is what you make it. May God bless you all!

Deceived Claudia Black 2009-07-30 Renowned lecturer, author, and trainer Claudia Black offers a comprehensive guide to healing and recovery for women whose partners are acting out sexually. Pornography, cybersex, prostitutes, voyeurism, multiple affairs. Sex in the Sticks Sawyer Bennett 2017-05-02 USA TODAY

BESTSELLER • Wake up and feel the wood! In the first of a series of irresistible standalone romances from Sawyer Bennett, a city girl rediscovers love and lust in the Alaskan wilderness. Valentine French may be the sassiest dating columnist in New York City, but the abundance of metrosexuals in her adopted metropolis is seriously cramping her style. Where are the beefy all-American boys? Hoping to find some inspiration, Val heads to Alaska, where the men outnumber the women fifteen to one and wrestle grizzly bears for sport. Or so she can only imagine. Suddenly the most eligible bachelorette in a town full of horny lumberjacks, Val is writing her best columns ever. But if she doesn't get her nose out of her laptop, she just might miss out on Mr. Right. Logan Burke is the sheriff of the little podunk town that Val finds so charmingly backward. He's not that different from the guys she's using for her little experiment; it's just that one date would never be enough for Logan. As he listens to Val complain about love over beers in the local tavern, he realizes that she can't see the forest for the trees. Because if she would ever give up her Prada bags and fourteen-dollar martinis, Logan would give her the only luxury that matters: his heart. Walk Witt Me Jawan Neal 2014-07-18 This is a story about the evolution of a young African American Black male, the trials & tribulations he faces while evolving into adulthood. I feel this story comes from a different angle, because the character doesn't come from the typical scenario of an urban beginning with a single mother, single father, grandparents rising him or alcoholic/drug addict parents. He actually comes from a middle class African American family that both parents do well but ventured off track because of his own poor choices. Growing up in the 80's were both fun as well as rough for Kendrick and family but they always pulled together making things better even when it seemed unbearable for them. He became an unbelievable athlete right out the gates in high school. Making himself well known as he began to experience a multitude of things from sex, gambling, drugs, and street life on a day to day basis as he tried to dodge this like a car trying to allude potholes. Rising to the top is very difficult, but to fall from it is easy and can be crushing for a young teenage man. The pain he felt mustn't be like a glass shattering in a million pieces, and it takes a strong willed person to climb out a state of misery while trying not to fall into drug activity in the process. Not known which way to turn or go, Kendrick received an opportunity to travel to California where he saw and met lots of people as well as superstars during his stay out west. The hood just kept it grips on Kendrick, or was it just flat out fear that did it. Because after a nine month stay in Cal he was back in Springfield, Michigan just as lost as ever this time and now a nineteen year old man without a plan. Major his older cousin taught him the games ins and outs A-Z he was like Kendrick's professor over the next couple months. Kendrick was a fast learner and promise to put his fingerprints all over the game making his new mentor proud like a daddy for his son. There was a higher calling on Kendrick's life than he knew because he would soon get a third attempt at living out his hoop dream even after losing the first, and running from the second one. He did bounce around the ABA and IBL basketball leagues before returning home for a much needed break. But to his dismay he would run into an old high school sweetheart in the process. Things started to look up for him, but in typical Kendrick fashion he mess that up to as the street kept calling him like 'Pookie' from New Jack City....

Resilience in Action Michael Ungar 2008-01-01 Mental health specialists and researchers contend that the development of resilience in youth is facilitated at several levels. Relational, cultural, individual, and governmental factors all have a strong influence over the mental well being of young people. Resilience in Action looks at youth interventions with a view to fostering resilience in those living in adverse situations and conditions. In order to provide a practical approach to the issue, the essays in this volume explore the components of successful interventions, encouraging the transmission of effective practices from one community to another across borders. It is organized into four sections, each dealing with a different aspect of work with at-risk youth. The first section focuses on individual health and the ways in which intervention and therapy strengthen personal resources. The second section explores the dynamics of interventions in relation to specific contexts and localized relationships, emphasizing holistic approaches to youth work. A review of the cultural relevance of resilience follows in section three, and the fourth considers ways of increasing the accessibility to resources that encourage healthy development. Featuring contributors from a variety of academic and cultural backgrounds, Resilience in Action offers diverse answers to many of the persistent questions mental health professionals ask regarding how to enhance resilience.

The Quick-Reference Guide to Counseling Teenagers Tim Clinton 2010-08-01 Youth culture changes rapidly, so those in the position to counsel teens often find themselves ill-informed and ill-prepared to deal with the issues that teens routinely encounter today. The Quick-Reference Guide to Counseling Teenagers provides the answers. It is an A-Z guide for assisting people--helpers--pastors, professional counselors, youth workers, and everyday believers--to easily access a full array of information to aid them in (formal and informal) counseling situations. Each of the 40 topics covered follows a helpful eight-part outline and identifies: (1) typical symptoms and patterns, (2) definitions and key thoughts, (3) questions to ask, (4) directions for the conversation, (5) action steps, (6) biblical insights, (7) prayer starters, and (8) recommended resources.

Phoenix Rising Donald G. Lett 2008-02 In an age when the supply of gasoline to feed this modern American society has become both more expensive and more scarce questions are being pondered. Inquires like, 'How can a modern society scale back its dependence on gasoline as a motive source?' 'Are there genuine alternative power sources?' 'Are they the answer to a growing crisis?' Recent announcements of hybrids like those from Honda, Toyota, and Ford have really brought attention to this issue. Hybrids that use both gasoline engines and electric motors. Really, though, alternative power sources have been around for as long as the automobile has been. The battle between and among the steam car, the electric and the gas car was fought out in the first couple of decades of the twentieth century. This book explores the ins and outs of that battle. A struggle from which the gasoline car emerged completely victorious. To such an extent that steam cars and electric cars virtually disappeared from the scene for many decades. We will look over all three alternatives, exploring their advantages and disadvantages. We will also look over the obstacles to the steamers and the electrics. Barriers that still exist to a certain extent. Handicaps that caused their disappearance in the first place.

The Love Songs of Henry Canary Ken Bontempo 2002 Henry's is a life filled with loves and losses, hopes and dreams, with happiness and tragedy balanced by humor and kindness. His life is full, yet empty -- crowded with emotional, psychological, and philosophical dichotomies. He is John Doe wandering across the landscape and recent history of America. Henry Canary, a middle-aged writer and part-time truck driver, receives a surprise visit from Kelly Kane, the illegitimate daughter of his first girlfriend. Although Henry is not her father, 25-year-old Kelly wants to write a story about him for her magazine. She tracks him down with the intention of interviewing him, but gets involved in his life. As they travel from Santa Cruz to Los Angeles in his truck, she learns the story of a boy growing up in a factory town in Connecticut in the 1950s. During trips from L.A. to Las Vegas to Death Valley and Arizona, Kelly learns about the happy, sad, humorous and tragic events from grade school to college to Vietnam and back and hears about his successes and failures in love and life. Henry tries not to fall in love with the girl who reminds him so much of her mother Kelly tries not to fall in love with Henry as she learns about his family, friends, lovers and other strangers. She hears loving descriptions of favorite people, places and things as well as the tragedies and losses that we all endure in our own lives. Henry talks about his first crush at 14 on a 26-year-old woman; a high school street battle dubbed the Creampuff War; his on/off, love/hate relationship with Kelly's mother; his tour in Vietnam where he kills an "enemy"; his move to New York City after the Army; his girlfriend who was a third generation orphan; his job at a bank where the workers plot to kill their boss; his cross-country adventure with a friend and two call girls; his whirlwind marriage to a girl he hardly knew; the Summer of Love in San Francisco; graduate school; the birth and death of his son; driving a taxi in New York City; his short-lived career as a TV sit-com writer in Hollywood; the various women that came and went after his divorce; the sex, drugs and rock and roll of Greenwich Village in the early 80s; his third move to California, and his philosophis on life and God's mistakes. The story ends with an unpredictably surprising revelation.

Best AltWeekly Writing 2009 & 2010 Mike Association of Alternative Newsweeklies 2011-03-29 Alternative newsweeklies have long covered the most provocative stories with some of the country's sharpest writing and reporting. And with the decline of the mainstream media, alternative weeklies now serve as a bulwark against the disappearance of local print coverage. Best AltWeekly Writing 2009 & 2010, edited by the Association of Alternative Newsweeklies (AAN), showcases articles that won the AAN's AltWeekly Awards in 2009 and 2010. These pieces embody the in-depth investigative journalism, narrative style, and defiant viewpoints that have made alternative newsweeklies an essential part of our media landscape. Included are music criticism from the Village Voice and election coverage from City Pages and the Texas Observer, as well as news and features from Westword, Washington City Paper, the Arkansas Times, Folio Weekly, and LEO Weekly. Pieces are accompanied by interviews with the reporters who wrote them, giving an insider's look at the story behind the story.
