A selection from the spiritual letters of s. Francis de Sales, tr. by the author of 'Life of s. Francis de Sales'. François de Sales (st.) 1880 Summary of Dan S. Kennedy's The Ultimate Sales Letter, 4th Edition Everest Media, 2022-03-26T22:59:00Z Please note: This is a companion version & not the original book. Sample Book Insights: #1 The old adage says that you can't understand someone else's situation unless you've walked a mile in his shoes. This is a good adage for entrepreneurs to remember, as they try to understand the situation of their customers, clients, and employees. #2 Out of touch with your customers or prospects. The more in touch you are, the more likely your success. Ask yourself some smart questions to help you understand your customers and prospects. #3 To write effective emails, you must first understand and connect with your customers. You can do this by analyzing their habits, desires, and frustrations. #4 You must determine in advance what your customers' priorities are, and address them, not your own. You must also consider the benefits to your company and the costs of giving before deciding to contribute to a cause.

Letters From an Old Time Salesman to His Son Roy Lester James 2021-11-05 This book contains real letters, written by a salesman to his son. Another refreshing thing about these letters is that they were not written for publication. The motive behind them is an interesting one. Mr. James began his business career as a salesman, calling on the retail trade in small towns. Shortly after a son came to bless his home—a red-headed boy who was christened "Hal." Like all men who make a success of their profession, Mr. James believed in his work and his dreams of the future for his son always pictured the boy as a traveling salesman. As the boy grew and developed traits of character, what was more natural than that his dad, who shared the boy's problems, should visualize his son with these same peculiar traits running afoul of the same pitfalls and snags that beset the path of every young man in sales work?
